For immediate release:

Mike Goulian to compete in Red Bull Air Races

MAYNARD, Mass. (January 16, 2006) – Aerobatic champion Mike Goulian will be vying for the title of Red Bull Air Race World Champion in 2006. Mike will join 10 other world renowned pilots who will compete in the exciting new series that is changing the way the world looks at airshows.

The Red Bull organization chose Mike after trials during the San Francisco Air Race in September 2005 and a training camp last November. Goulian participated in the Red Bull Air Race held in Reno, NV in 2004 but did not participate in the race series season last year.

The Red Bull Air Races have grown into a worldwide phenomenon incorporating air racing, aerobatics and precision. Since 2001, this new sport has evolved into a series of races throughout the world. For 2005, seven races were held in Europe, the Middle East and the USA. For 2006, the ten race schedule will include races in Australia, England, Germany, Hungary, Russia, Spain, Turkey, United Arab Emirates, and the USA. Races can be seen live at the show site or on live streaming video on the web at www.redbullairrace.com.

At 37 years old, Mike Goulian is best known for his airshow and competition flying in North America. As a three time member of the US National Aerobatic Team, 1995 US National Aerobatic Champion and a 17 year veteran of airshows, he is know to airshow fans around the globe.

Michael comments that "the demands of the Red Bull Air Race are extreme. Flying a Red Bull course requires more intense preparation and focus than I have ever needed in any other sport. You can't let up for a second. Flying as fast as you can 10 feet over the ground and through the pylons while pulling up to 10 G's is an incredible challenge. I have always been driven by competition so I am looking forward to competing against the clock and my fellow pilots."
